President & CEO

Staci Taruscio serves as the President and CEO of Rebellion Energy, LLC, a company she founded alongside Natural Gas Partners in May, 2015. Rebellion Energy is an Upstream E&P Company with an emphasis on conventional oil assets in the Mid-Continent arena.

Mrs. Taruscio adds over 12 years of engineering experience in the oil and gas industry to her team and believes that this, coupled with a creative approach and tenacious work ethic, will pay dividends in the business of exploiting known oil reserves.

Prior to founding Rebellion, Mrs. Taruscio spent her earlier career at Samson Resources, where she built a solid foundation in operations, production, reservoir, and economic skill-sets in both Asset Engineering and A&D positions. Mrs. Taruscio gained further experience in the public forum as a Reservoir Engineer and Strategic Planner at SM Energy. This experience transitioned into the private equity realm while working in the same capacity with Rockford Energy Partners III. Most recently, while at Mid-Con Energy Partners, Mrs. Taruscio established a thorough knowledge base around enhanced oil recovery and learned firsthand the opportunity associated with reserves that have been left behind in search of the next big play.

Mrs. Taruscio holds a B.S. in Petroleum Engineering from the University of Tulsa and a MBA from Oklahoma State University. In 2016, Mrs. Taruscio was honored as one of Oklahoma Magazine's 40 Under 40.

As a wife and mother, Mrs. Taruscio is proud to live in a community where smart, young, professional women can choose to stay, invest and build their futures and their families at the same time.
